I understand that Irish work is difficult to complete at home. Children should be encouraged to do what they can and if the task is too stressful don't force them to complete it.

Bua na cainte are offering free access to the lessons we would do in class including games and songs that would help the children engage interactively.

I will also be using padlet as a chat room for students to connect with me and other students and I will put a link on class dojo for anyone who wants to use it. Otherwise our communication can be done through class dojo.
